

A relaxing walking course in the government-designated scenic area

The course will satisfy the mind, body, and soul as it includes the site of Tsunomure Castle with high stone walls from the Shokuho period and the old Kurushima family garden built by a domain lord who was now permitted to own a castle.

④ Japan's designated historical site
The site of Tsunomure Castle

The stone walls of Tsunomure Castle were laid using a style called Ano Zumi and are made of unprocessed natural stones of various sizes. At a glance, they look carelessly built, but they are solid walls that have been calculated for balance.

③ Japan's designated scenic beauty
The old Kurushima garden

The old domain lord of Kusu spent 20 years to build the garden at great expense. It is dotted with highlights, including the Shimizu Gomon Gate modeled after the Yomei Gate of Nikko Toshogu Shrine and the Seihoro teahouse with views of cherry blossoms and crimson foliage built as a substitute for the castle keep.
